

Professionals and managers

Meaningful Sabbaticals

Take a break from your daily routine and come back inspired and highly motivated. Get socially involved, share your knowledge and expertise, and at the same time develop your personal skills.

Working as an interim advisor, is not only an intercultural and professional challenge; it also leads to a change in perspective and is a once-in-a-lifetime unique experience.

For example, your skills are needed in:

- designing a marketing campaign in Cambodia;
- the strategic alignment of a community project in Tanzania; or
- creating an eco-tourism concept in Peru.

Together we choose a suitable project for you. We give you training before - and support you during and after - your project work, and thus create the necessary framework for your secure and sustainable 'social sabbatical'.

Companies

Social Sabbatical - More than just a Time Out!

Our complex business world faces new challenges for human resources. With a 'social sabbatical' you do not only offer your employees the possibility to do good and get socially involved.

Learning and experiencing in foreign countries facilitates solution-oriented thinking, refines the international profile of your employees, and enhances the ability to cope with complexity and the unforeseen.

A 'social sabbatical' can be

- a key component in your leadership development;
- a part of your corporate health management; or
- a step in an outplacement program.

Back in his / her job, your employee can use the newly learnt skills as a valuable driving force providing impetus, and be an ambassador for your company.

NGO's

Know-How for your Projects

Your successful and sustainable work relies on qualified employees. But some of your projects might need a short term mission of experts or advisors, who are hard to find in the labour market and very often are too expensive.

An interim advisor offers you flexible and cost-efficient access to qualified professionals and managers.

The placement of an interim advisor can be either:

- a short-term mission with a fixed task specification;
- a long-term mission to support the whole development process; or
- an assessment of the current status and planning for further support.

The interim advisor can provide important and necessary support, teach knowledge and skills and encourages independence while all responsibilities stay with the project.

About Manager für Menschen

Your partner for Social Sabbaticals

Since 2011 we recruit and place professionals and managers as interim advisor in social projects. Thus we offer socially involved and interested people the chance to integrate a 'social sabbatical' in their active professional life.

In addition we design innovative sabbatical and personnel development programs for companies, and accompany them at every stage of implementation.

That way NGO's have flexible access to qualified professionals.

Our objective is to create intercultural learning and development platforms to facilitate a mutual knowledge transfer and to create added value for all parties involved.

Projects

All project partners are approved organizations in the public, private or religious sector.

We place great value on the fact that projects are initiated by the country itself and are sustainable. We only place an interim advisor if there is a need on behalf of the project organization.

Fields of activity

We have partnerships with organizations and NGO's in Africa, Asia and Latin America. Specific know-how and professional advice are needed in organization, sales, administration, controlling, project management, marketing and production. All placements offer a wide possibility to contribute to joint solutions.

Are you interested in working as an interim advisor or in placing an interim advisor in one of your projects?

Don't hesitate to contact us or send us your application.

For more information please check out our website!

Manager für Menschen®
Johannes-Krämer-Strasse 32
70597 Stuttgart
Germany

info@managerfuermenschen.com
www.managerfuermenschen.com

